MORTE DI UNA RAGAZZA

On September 2, 1924, Jenetta Panella, a 14 year old Italian American schoolgirl was attacked along the banks of McMahon’s Creek on her way home from the opening days of school. She lived on Trough Run and was accustomed to taking the railroad tracks through the Georgetown Tunnel on her way home from school, and nearby Georgetown. This day, however, would be her last to pass through that tunnel, as death awaited her on the other side at the hands of a paroled felon, Fred Ward, who would be executed for this terrible crime.

LOVER’S LANE MURDER

In 1950, George Doty, during an attempted rape, brutally murdered Alma Montag in Belmont County near Willow Creek Road, past Neffs. Come discover what happened and learn the outcome of the resulting death penalty trial.
